As the National Commission on the Status of Women reported in 1963, "the American woman has been the victim of a double standard. She has been expected to conform to the traditional male model of behavior, yet she has been denied the same opportunities and rewards as men." The Commission's report, The American Woman and the Man, was a landmark document that paved the way for the passage of the Equal Pay Act of 1963 and the Equal Opportunity Act of 1964.
